

Answer: That seems to be an error on our part that firms appear multiple times in the same trade. Please disregard this error as it was not caught before the release of this availability list. I will submit a revised availability list to remove the duplicates in an addendum.

If Good Faith Effort is done by your firm, you would only need to reach out to (5) firms in every ethnic category as stated on the Compliance Checklist. Any duplications should be ignored as they were included in error.

I am seeing several companies listed as many as 5 times under this same trade code.

Could they perhaps have been intended to be listed under DIFERENT Trade Codes?

If so those specific trade codes might not have been covered... even though the subcontractor was contacted about the project.

So in that instance, everything should be alright in terms of the subcontractor bidding on the scopes of work they can perform as they assess the project.

Answer: They are all under electrical categories and sub-categories. Yes all should be fine. We will submit a revised availability list that does not show any duplication.

A new availability list with the document title "HUBATT 2 20CSP051- Addendum 1_Electrical, Fire Alarm & HVAC Upgrades COVT MS – REVISED" is published with this addendum.
